

Two Youths Escape Death as Car Upsets On North Keim Street

Two Sanatoga youths came near meeting death on a narrow, curving road near the top of Ringing Hill early last night.

They were saved by being tossed out of their small car when it rolled over after failing to make a curve on North Keim street just above Hilltop road at about 8:15 o'clock.

At Pottstown hospital last night authorities identified the driver of the open-top car as Robert Smale, 15, and his passenger as John Street, 17.

Street suffered lacerations about the head and brush burns as he was thrown into the roadside bushes. Smale was uninjured.

According to Pennsylvania motor vehicle laws, a person cannot legally operate a vehicle until he is at least 16 years old and has taken proper legal steps to obtain the driving privilege.

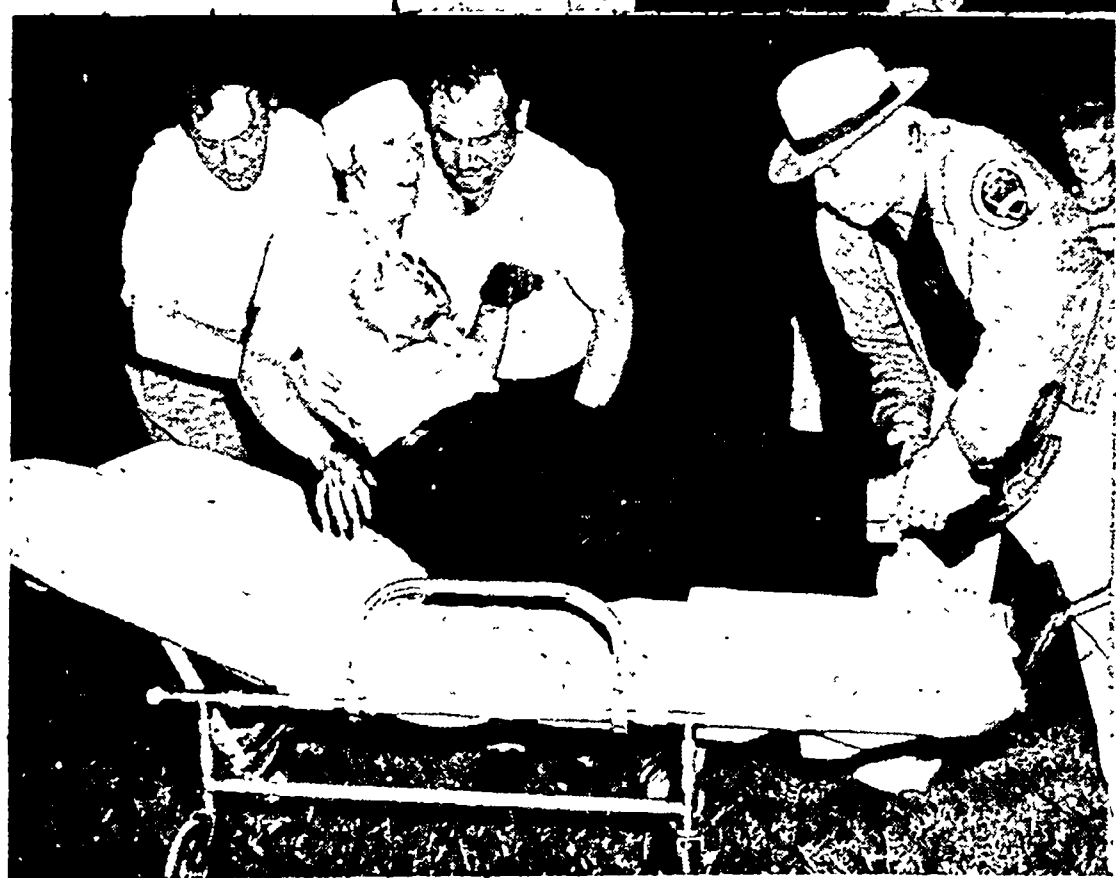

IT COULD not be learned early this morning whether Smale was in line for legal actions on a possible charge of operating a motor vehicle while under age.

Robert Morall, Pottstown RD 4, who lives just above the curve of the crowned blacktop road, said he saw the car enter the curve at a high rate of speed, waver in its course and then turn over.

The car struck a mailbox as it tumbled along the roadside, then rolled over and came to rest in the road, nose down-hill.

Black skid marks could be seen extending about 100 feet between the curve and the wrecked car, mute evidence of a sudden desperate application of the brakes.

Two Sanatoga youths barely escaped serious injury or death early last night when their car in which they were riding went out of control while rounding a curve on North Keim street above Hilltop road on Ringing Hill. In top photo the small open car is shown after it came to rest on its back in the road after tossing the occupants out as it rolled over. Below, Good Will firemen lift one occupant, John Street, 17, to a stretcher of the company ambulance. Driver Robert Roth is at left. Assisting him are Charles Dimino (center) and Raymond Foy. Another person, identified at the hospital as Robert Smale, 15, also of Sanatoga, driver of the car, was unhurt. But both youths were taken to Pottstown hospital. They were examined and discharged. It was unknown early this morning whether any charges would be lodged.

MESSANTONIO MISSES HEARING

Accused Was Slated For Philadelphia Appearance

The tangled affairs of Charles Messantonio, 28-year-old Pottstown man, became more so yesterday when he was unable to appear in Federal court in Philadelphia on one charge because he was in custody on another.

He was due there on a charge that he stole Government checks. He couldn't make it because Reading State police and then local police had him in custody on a charge of being an accessory in the recent $140 burglary of a South Hanover street office.

At 11:27 o'clock yesterday morning, Reading State police returned him to borough hall, from which he would be committed to Montgomery county prison.

Reading State police questioned him at length because they previously had linked him with Robert J. Bauman, 26, of 138 High street, and Kenneth E. Opalak, 19, of 451 High street. Police said Bauman and Opalak took part in the $400 burglary of the Boyertown American Legion home.

State police had been working with Boyertown Police Chief Henry E. Groff on this case.

Pottstown police said they believed Messantonio would be committed early this morning.

Messantonio's Federal hearing has been postponed three times. He claimed he couldn't get a lawyer. He posted $1000 bail on the Federal charges.

Playtime Tragedy Wins Top Prize In Newstop Contest

A fast tip on the first playtime tragedy in the Pottstown area, and a double-barreled newstop from a veteran tipster won the top prizes yesterday in The Mercury's weekly contest.

David B. Engle, 1325 South street, won first prize of $5 by telephoning 6000 (The Mercury switchboard) about the drowning of a Spring City soldier near Black Rock dam. He called an hour and 15 minutes before the body was discovered.

Second prize of $3 was won by Arthur Brown, 249 Queen street, the veteran tipster. His first shot was a tip on a still-alarm fire in a seafood establishment. His parting shot was a tip on an accident in the same block at the same time.

William Rutter, Pottstown RD 4, made it three-for-three for the menfolk, winning third prize of $2 for his prompt report on the bizarre pile-up of four cars in Trappe.

Truce Delegations Hold Brief Meeting; Singing of Locusts Augurs Hot Weather

PANMUNJOM, WEDNESDAY, June 9 (AP)—Allied and Red truce teams met briefly today and recessed until tomorrow while lower level officers sat down to work out the last minor points of an armistice ending the bloody three year Korean War.

Signing of the Armistice could come this week.

Meanwhile, tens of thousands of South Koreans demonstrated in Seoul against an armistice.

They surged through the streets, shouting and waving signs calling for a drive north to unify the country. Hundreds of school girls swept past guards into the Fifth air force headquarters compound and correspondents' quarters shouting, "reject with death the Panmunjom conference."

ALLIED MILITARY police spread throughout the city to protect UN units and property. The armistice agreement was all but completed.

With all policy issues including the voluntary repatriation of prisoners settled, the only remaining points to be cleared up were minor technical matters. The brevity of today's session—12 minutes—hinted that the delegates may have turned over these matters to lower level staff officers.

Staff officers met immediately after the plenary session adjourned.

The delegates convene again at 11 a. m. Wednesday (10 p. m., Pottstown time Tuesday).

BUT WHETHER their 23-months labor would finally end three years of warfare on this blood-soaked peninsula was clouded by the vows of South Korean leaders to ignore the armistice and fight on.

The angry South Koreans rejected the prisoner exchange agreement signed Monday as "failure of the United Nations to live up to their fundamental principle of human freedom."

Under the agreement the bulk of 121,680 Red Prisoners and 12,000 Allied prisoners would be exchanged within 60 days; the rest will be released by December.

Following an emergency cabinet meeting, Home Minister Chun Hun Shik declared the decision was "made for South Korea to continue fighting in spite of any armistice."

"IT IS AN established principle, he said, that we should drive to the north."

President Syngman Rhee, his mansion shaken by a Communist air bombing attack during the night, was even more adamant that no truce was acceptable that did not provide for removal of the 1,000,000 Chinese Communist army, and unification of all Korea.

Rhee declared in an interview that "the Korean people will pay no attention" to the armistice.

Then Rhee went back to his presidential mansion where he began drafting a reply to President (Continued on Page Five)

School Board Votes to Hire Teacher For Elementary Vocal Music Pupils

The school board voted last night to expand its elementary school music program by hiring a part-time, temporary teacher for next year.

But the board would probably never have taken the progressive step if its orders of two months ago had been accepted silently.

In the only other major business on the light agenda, William H. McCabe and Morrell E. Grigg were confirmed as head coaches of basketball and baseball, respectively. (See Page 10 for pictures and stories of the two men.)

The question of the school system's music program was taken up when a letter from Edward F. O'Neill, vocal teacher at the Senior High school, was read by Secretary Linford F. Moyer.

The letter recalled how in 1949, when O'Neill was interviewed for a teaching position, he was told by Dr. F. M. Haiston, then superintendent of schools, that he was being hired specifically for work at the High school.

"The agreement was also to the effect that I was not to be employed for the elementary schools," the letter said.

THE PAST April 13, however, the school board voted to have O'Neill take on nine hours of vocal duties a week at the St. Clair, Washington and West End schools next year.

This would be in addition to his duties at the Senior High school. The letter last night, read while O'Neill sat in the room next to two members of the teachers' association, went on to say:

"I am asking the school board not to persist in the directive that orders me to teach in elementary schools. And I also ask that my schedule include only High school vocal music."

The letter also said that the agreement between O'Neill and Dr. Haiston could be proved if the board requested.

Council Okays Fines Up to $100 In Weed Ruling

By ROBERT E. HOYER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Teeth were installed in the borough weed ordinance last night.

Council unanimously approved the re-enforced weed law which now provides for a maximum fine of $100 for delinquent weed cutters.

The ordinance provides ten days' notification through borough advertisement and a minimum fine of $25.

The old ordinance called for fines of $5 to $25, and a 48-hour notification on complaint.

The new bill provides the borough advertise publicly once or twice during the Summer that weeds be cut and that ten days be permitted to carry out the order.

A promised report on gasoline and oil sales at Pottstown Municipal airport has not been submitted by Manager John J. Basco.

Wilbert O'Dell, eighth ward chairman of airport committee, reported, "I was supposed to have a meeting with Basco last week, but at the last minute he called and said he couldn't make it."

The councilman said he expects to see Basco, who is supposed to turn in the report each month on the agreement he made with the committee. The first report was due June 1.

Basco's agreement provides two cents to be paid to the borough on each gallon of "gas" sold at the field and 10 cents for each gallon of oil.

BURGESS ASKS NEW DOG POUND BE BUILT HERE

Three Women Arouse Griffith's Interest In Canines

Burgess William A. Griffith last night professed an interest in the borough's dog population.

He said the killing of dogs "can be a nasty business" and asked the borough to construct a new dog pound.

The burgess said he had been approached by three women (they attended last night's meeting members of the Montgomery county SPCA about the dog pound problem.

Griffith said, "I might have to apologize for the conditions of the pound down there (at the borough dump). They've moved it around, and to be perfectly frank I didn't know just where it was. I understand it's near the borough dump and that it's loaded with disease germs."

Roads Not Ordained Ruled Out for Work

Council last night voted against future work by the highway department on alleys and streets in the borough which are not ordained.

Chairman Paul Marshall, highway committee, brought the problem to a head.

He asked council to vote on the issue which in the past years often has been raked across the council scene and which in recent meetings has been the cause of several committee explosions.

Paul P. Kohler, Second ward, asked Solicitor C. Edmund Wells if the borough is liable for work on alleys which aren't ordained.

Inmates Quarantined At Pennhurst School

State officials have clamped a quarantine on the 5300 inmates of Pennhurst State school, Spring City, it was reported yesterday.

The bar was clamped down because more than 200 inmates of the school have come down with yellow jaundice since it was first reported.

Pennhurst officials, unable to control the spread of the disease, sent an SOS to Harrisburg. State officials responded and a group of specialists led by Dr. Joseph Stokes Jr., reported to the school.

Almost all the inmates have now been inoculated with gamma globulin, a miracle drug which has proven effective in controlling the outbreak of the disease.

Surrounded by flames, the remnants of a century-old barn stand bleakly as the timbers and planks that once were a part of it burn. In the foreground, members of the Kimberton company, called before the fire was set, stand by, dousing nearby buildings.

The barn, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Howe, Birchrunville, was torn down yesterday afternoon. The stones will be used in building other homes. The structure was torn down and the debris set afire by a contractor because it was no longer safe to use.

Phils Top Cubs, 7-3; Riddick, Ennis Shine

PHILADELPHIA, June 8 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs threw the ball around like schoolboys in the second inning today, committing four errors to pave the way for the Philadelphia Phillies to pick up a 7-3 victory.

Del Ennis singled to open the inning and took second when Frankie Baumholtz overran the ball. Granny Hamner flied out to Hank Sauer and Earl Torgeson struck out.

Willie Jones walked and Stan Lopata lifted an easy pop to second baseman Eddie Miksis. Miksis dropped the ball. Ennis scoring.

Starting pitcher Bob Miller singled to center to drive in Jones and when Baumholtz threw wild Lopata scored.

Pitcher Paul Minner, backing up the play at third, threw wild past catcher Joe Garagiola and Miller came all the way around to score.

Steve Riddick, who took over from Miller in the fifth, allowed four hits in four and a third inning to win his third against one loss. Riddick picked two Cub runners off first base, and was aided by three Phillies double plays.

Minner took the loss, his fifth against two wins.

Roy Smalley hit his fifth home run of the year for the Cubs in the third. The Chicagoans picked up two more in the fourth when Dee Fondy doubled to right, and scored on Garagiola's triple to the center field wall after which Ransom Jackson drove in Garagiola with a single.

The Phillies came back with one in their half on a walk to Jones, and singles by Stan Lopata and Riddick.

Mel Clark tripled with one down in the fifth and scored on Ennis' single. The Phillies closed out the scoring in the eighth on a double by Earl Torgeson, a single by Jones and a double by Lopata.

DRILLING FOR GOLF GOLD - By Alan Mavor

CARY MIDDLECOFF, THE GOLFING DENTIST, SHOULD BE ONE OF THE FAVORITED CANDIDATES FOR THE U.S. OPEN TITLE AT OAKMONT CC. PITTSBURGH.

After an opening par 70, he proceeded to win the Pottstown Beach Tourney by shooting the next 4 rounds in 10 below par— including a new Meadow Brook course record of 64.

Brooklyn scored single runs in the fifth—on a walk, single and two infield outs—and in the eighth when Hodges opened with a double, moved to third on Carl Furillo's fourth hit, and scored when pinch hitter Wayne Belardi bounced into a double play.

Mathews Drives In 5

Rampaging Braves Scalp Giants, 12-8

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Eddie Mathews clouted his 17th home run and drove in five runs as the National league leading Milwaukee Braves outslugged the New York Giants 12-8 today to open up a full game margin on Brooklyn.

Mathews had a field day at bat, adding a single, double and walk to his homer which tied Brooklyn's Roy Campanella for the major league lead. His five RBIs boosted his total to 48, just seven under the Dodger catcher's pace-setting figure.

The Giants not only dropped their third straight game to fall to an even .500 rating for the season, but they also lost the services of Manager Leo Durocher and Captain Alvin Dark during a stormy debate with plate umpire Frank Dascoli in the final inning.

Dark, who opened the last of the ninth with a double, his fourth hit of the game, was caught in a run-down between third and home on a tap to the box by Monte Irvin. Dark and Durocher claimed interference by Milwaukee catcher Ebba St. Claire which was disallowed. In the argument that followed, both Durocher and Dark were banished. The rampaging Braves, in rack-up their ninth triumph in 13 games on the current road trip, scored all but one of their runs in three big innings. Trailing 2-1, they tallied four times in the sixth, added three more in the seventh, and four in the eighth to earn their fifth victory in six meetings with the Giants.

Mathews doubled with the bases loaded to clear the sacks in the seventh, and homered with a mate aboard in the eighth.

Max Surkont was the recipient of all the runs and the stocky Braves' right-hander needed all the help he could get to register his seventh success against one defeat.

Mathews' homer in the eighth, his 17th, was the longest in his career, a 410-foot drive that landed in the bullpen.

Tiger Jones Batters Mickey Laurent

BROOKLYN, June 8 (AP)—Ralph "Tiger" Jones pursued a willing, but outclassed, Mickey Laurent from post to post tonight to take a unanimous ten-round decision in a middleweight bout in Eastern Parkway Arena. Jones weighed 153½, Laurent 158.

The rugged Yonkers, N. Y. performer pressed the attack all the way, opening a cut over Laurent's left eye in the first round. He pounded the durable Frenchman's body and head, but Laurent refused to go down, although he slipped to the canvas once in the sixth round.

Judge Joe Agnello's card gave Jones eight rounds and the Frenchman two. Judge Jack O'Sullivan had it 6-3-3, and Referee Barney Felix favored Jones by 6-3-1.

Laurent who has lost only to Randy Turpin and Charlie Humez in 30 fights, sent Jones spinning across the ring in the second round with a terrific right to the jaw, but that was the only time he had the better of it.

Walter Dukes To Play With Globetrotters

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Walt Dukes, Seton Hall's six-foot, 11 inch All-America and the most sought after college prospect in basketball, has cast his lot with the famed Harlem Globetrotters at a salary of "close to $25,000" a year.

The 22-year-old Rochester, N. Y. Negro, who was the No. 1 draft choice of the pro New York Knickerbockers, signed a one year contract with a two-year option clause, said Abe Saperstein, owner of the globe-girdling Negro team, today.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF
 FRANK PEARCE, Dearborn Motors president, once addressed an audience of precision tool workers some miles out of Detroit. "If you want to get off to a good start with the men," counseled a friend, "say a few kind words about old Doc Brown who was quite a hero in these parts. He died just yesterday." Accordingly, Pearce began with a eulogy of Brown and went on to declare, "Possibly you will realize what the good old Doc meant to me when I tell you that he was the man who brought me into the world." There was a roar of laughter in the hall, and the friend hissed into Pearce's ear: "Shut up, Frank! Doc Brown was a veterinarian!"

A gruff banker, trying his damndest to unbend with his young grandson, harrumphed, "Let's see now, boy, just how old are you?" "Twelve, Grandpa," said the lad. "Hmmm," mused the old boy. "When I was your age, I was fifteen!"

FRIENDS UNITE TO FIGHT DAM

State Board Will Hold Hearing on Protest Tomorrow

"Friends of the Schuylkill" have joined the Friends of the Perkiomen in the attack on Philadelphia Suburban Water company's proposal to build a huge dam with which to take an additional 16,500,000 gallons of water a day from the Perkiomen.

The Friends of the Perkiomen will appear before the State Water and Power Resources board in Harrisburg tomorrow at a hearing to determine whether the board should grant the water company permission to build the dam.

The board has granted permission for the water company to take the extra 16,500,000 gallons but has not yet granted permission for the dam needed to take it.

Justice Grover C. Ladner will be the attorney representing the Friends of the Perkiomen. Associated with him is Attorney T. Nicholson Wood.

MEANWHILE, Attorney Julian W. Barnard filed an equity motion the past Saturday, asking Montgomery County court to issue an injunction to restrain the water company from building the dam near Green Lane.

Barnard is representing Collegeville, East Greenville, Green Lane, Pennsburg, Red Hill, Schwenksville, Trappe, Trumbauersville, Lower and Upper Frederick, Lower Providence, Skipack, Upper Hanover, Towamencin and Norristown, as well as individual property owners along the Schuylkill.

Barnard explained that he is concerned not only about the future of the Perkiomen but also the future of the Schuylkill.

He explained that the Perkiomen waters now do a lot to neutralize acids in the Schuylkill and give the flow of water the Schuylkill needs to cleanse itself.

When local groups draw water from the Perkiomen, it usually returns eventually to the Schuylkill, he pointed out, but Philadelphia Suburban Water company's plans call for piping the water over the hills into Delaware county.

The water company has 20 days in which to reply to Barnard's action. A hearing would have to be held, and a decision is expected to take weeks or months.

Attacker Smacks GI On Head With Bottle In Mystery Slugging

A 27-year-old Pottstown veteran of combat in World War II and the Korean War reported to police yesterday that he had been hit on the head by a bottle by someone who attacked him for no apparent reason.

Army Corp Eddie L. Showers, Crawford's alley, was treated and X-rayed in Pottstown hospital yesterday morning. The left side of his face was swollen badly.

Corp. Showers was due back at Indiantown Gap yesterday but got a day's extension to await final X-ray report.

He told Motor Patrolman Earl Rhoads that late Sunday night, he was walking north on Adams street toward Montgomery Lodge 1271, IPBOE, 635 Beech street. He was attacked as he passed the alley between Walnut and Beech streets.

THE ASSAILANT stepped behind him and hit him with what felt like a bottle, he said. The soldier added that he couldn't get even a glimpse of his assailant before he was dazed by the blow.

Corp. Showers said he believed he had been mistaken for someone else, for he didn't believe anyone had a grudge against him.

Grangers Will Hear Flower Show Winner

The techniques of flower arranging will be the topic of discussion at Keystone Grange in Trappe June 17 with Mrs. Boyle Irwin, many-time winner in the Philadelphia flower show as guest.

The Grange held its Memorial service recently. Candles were lighted for each member who died during the year.

The Rev. J. W. Deardorff, St. Luke's Reformed church, gave the oration and Mrs. Philip Harvey and Harry Samworth sang.

All six county Granges took part in an all day meeting on June 4. The county spelling contest was a highlight of the meeting with Mrs. George F. Craig as judge.

The agriculture and picnic committees will hold meetings at Keystone Grange at 8 p. m. on June 29.

Horse Thieves Gone, But Catcher Groups Stay in Operation

The horse population may be on the decline and horse stealing may be a lost art, but the old Pottstown area horse companies, organized to protect farmers from the pony rustler, plan to continue unabated.

The Detective association of Lancaster and Chester counties, organized in 1897 by vigilantes to prevent rustling, passed into history yesterday.

But its older and more experienced counterparts in Montgomery county are flourishing.

The Farmers Union Horse company, Fairview, plans to be just as active in future years as it has been in its long history.

THIS PAST Saturday the company, formed to protect its members from the horse thief, sponsored its annual horse parade and show at the village.

The Mingo Express Horse company, which includes members from the Collegeville-Trappe, Lower and Upper Providence townships, held its annual meeting this Spring and plans to continue operations.

H. D. Allebach, 300 West Third avenue, Trappe, president of the 100-year-old Mingo company, said, "We have no plans of dissolving. Why we just took in two new members."

New members may be voted into the company or they may secure shares from a resigned member or a member who has died. The two recent additions to the Mingo company secured shares.

Association Seeking State Aid to Get Wall At Park Repaired

Memorial Park association is seeking State aid in getting the masonry wall repaired that was washed out by heavy rains over the Memorial Day weekend.

William F. Lamb Sr., a director of the association, said last night that the organization had applied to the State Department of Forests and Waters through Montgomery county Commissioner Fred C. Peters for help.

The group is seeking engineering advice and aid from the State before starting to rebuild the wall.

Lamb pointed out that he had learned from one engineer that a pier or island may have to be built in front of the present island.

The new island would then split the current of the water and absorb a lot of the water's force, thus preventing a repetition of the Memorial Day weekend collapse.

The director said he probably wouldn't hear from the State for another week or so.

First Baptist Church Holds Vesper Service

The first of a series of annual Summer union vesper services was held Sunday night at the First Baptist church.

The vesper services, which are sponsored jointly by three local churches, Seales First Methodist and the First Baptist church, will continue till the end of July.

Each Sunday night services will be held at one of the three churches at 7:30 o'clock. The complete schedule will be announced later.

Hol Chicken Broth Burns Housewife Preparing Dinner

Chicken broth and embers from a bonfire sent a Pottstown housewife and a little boy to Memorial hospital dispensary late yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Judith Gauger, 23, of 338 Chestnut street, was preparing chicken broth for her dinner at 5:15 o'clock.

The broth spilled on her right hand and she suffered burns on the hand and fingers. Her mother, Mrs. Judith Decker, 356 Chestnut street, took her to Memorial hospital.

She returned to the broth after treatment.

MICHAEL LENGVEL, 6, of 108 North Keim street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lengvel, was taken to the hospital by Ned Simpson, 235 Henry street, after he burned his hands on embers from a fire on Simpson's property.

Michael was playing on the Simpson lot and fell on to the embers. He saw no flames and thought the fire was out, but the embers covered with ashes burned the palms of both his hands.

He was treated at 5:30 o'clock. His mother said late last night, "He seems okay now. But his hands are quite sore."

Zoning Problem Is Referred to Board After Protests Are Heard in Council

After a two-hour hearing last night on plans to change a RD 2 (residential) zone to industrial, Royersford borough council threw the matter back into the lap of the zoning board of adjustment.

The hearing was called to hear objections to a plan to change the present zoning as it applies to Fourth avenue and Spring street.

The council went into executive session and turned down the proposed change but decided to permit Gruber Industries to proceed with plans to improve the property under its present permit.

This action was rescinded and referred to the zoning board of adjustment to act upon after Attorney J. H. I. Hiestand, representing several property owners, protested the action, stating that he believed council went too far.

HE SAID The people who attended the hearing did so because they opposed changing the property from R2 to industrial. They came here, he said, because the hearing was for that purpose.

The matter had its inception when Gruber had asked the zoning board of adjustment for permission to build an extension to the front of his property, Fourth avenue and Spring street, but was told the zoning board had no authority to grant the request.

Subsequently the matter was brought before a meeting of borough council, which decided to hold a public hearing. Council agreed the only way permission could be granted was to change the zoning map, denoting the plot as an industrial plot instead of an R2.

A large group of property owners in the area attended last night's hearing and protested the change vigorously, charging the movement of trucks also would endanger their children and all school children attending the grade school, opposite the plant on Spring street.

IN THIS CONNECTION A resolution, passed by Royersford school board at a special meeting May 22, was read, which substantiated that the school district protests any change that would be hazardous to the school children. A protest from the public library board also was read.

Dr. O. C. Kuntzleman, supervising principal, said the underlying thought of the school district was the traffic hazard, because it would become a definite hazard for the 450 school children, including the 65 grade school children who pass there four times a day.

South Korea Boils With Anger Over Armistice Agreement; Government Leaders Vote to Continue Alone Against Reds

SEOUL, TUESDAY, June 9 (AP)—South Korea seethed with mounting anger today over terms of a Communist-United Nations agreement for an armistice and Government leaders voted to continue the war despite any truce.

A nation-wide show of opposition, including mass demonstrations, parades and mass meetings, broke out Monday and was scheduled to resume this morning.

Korean national police guarded all United Nations establishments to the rear of the fighting front as tension mounted.

"No one knows what is going to happen," a high Allied officer said soberly.

PRESIDENT Syngman Rhee, tough, stubborn and schooled by life-long opposition to occupation forces in Korea, vowed in an interview that the Korean people would pay no attention to a truce "so long as the Chinese aggressors are allowed to remain anywhere inside the Korean peninsula." He wanted all foreign troops withdrawn and a free hand to unify the country by force.

The 78-year-old chief executive labored on a reply to President Eisenhower, who called on him to accept an armistice and avoid any "reckless adventure."

Whether he would finally bow to Eisenhower's friendly but firm letter remained to be seen.

THE TENSION mounted still higher Monday night when nine Communist planes dropped at least four bombs on Seoul. One fell only 1000 feet from Rhee's green-topped presidential mansion and another hit a school about the same distance away. The blast left him calm and unshaken.

At his official residence the President stroked his dog, toyed with two bear cubs and told Associated Press photographer Fred Waters "we won't pay any attention to that (truce)—the Korean people will pay no attention to that."

"Our boys are fighting the Communists on the front and now they want to open the back door and let the Communists in that way," he added. "I am being criticized by everyone—except the Korean people."

The reference to "opening the back door" to Communism was to terms of the prisoner exchange agreement which provides that Poland and Czechoslovakia, both Communist satellite countries, should be members of a five nation neutral repatriation commission. The South Koreans have also attacked India, the proposed chairman of the commission, as pro-Communist.

South Korean Cabinet ministers and a "crisis committee" of 13 National Assemblymen met Monday and resolved to continue the war and not recognize a truce.

(In Washington, Korean ambassador You Chan Yang told a news conference "up to this minute" South Korea was determined to fight on.)

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Congressional investigators turned up testimony today that the Army planned to stock more than three million overcoats for a post-World War II force of one million men.

Representative Holifield (D-Calif.), a clothing manufacturer himself, and other members of a House Government Operations subcommittee suggested the Army was guilty of "dishonorable" actions in neglecting to tell Congress about the overcoat program.

The hearing was called to look into the Army's purchasing habits, particularly as they dealt with two million newly-designed overcoats, which cost 45 million dollars and later had to be remodeled when it was learned they were useless for combat wear.

WILD TWISTERS RIP TOWNS IN 2-STATE AREA

At Least 30 Persons Die When Tornadoes Hit Towns

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio, June 8 (AP)—A series of tornadoes struck vicious blows at Southern Michigan and Northwestern Ohio tonight, and persons who visited the Ohio tornado area feared 30 persons were dead.

Dick Moorehead, news editor of the Findlay, Ohio, Republican-Courier said: "I wouldn't be surprised to hear that there are 30 persons dead."

At least four persons were killed in the first tornadoes, which struck in Southern Michigan in the Erie area.

The worst Ohio tornado swept through Wood county, smashing country homes into firewood. Moorhead visited that area, near Cygnet.

"ANYONE THAT was in those homes didn't come out alive," he said. "I don't see how they could. The tornado just smashed homes completely into firewood."

Moorhead supplied the name of the first identified victim, a girl about 12-years-old Barbara Perry. "The girl's body was carried 300 yards from the house, which was completely destroyed," Moorhead said.

At least five tornadoes hit in Southern Michigan, and there were several in Ohio.

A TWISTER hit the Greater Cleveland airport on Cleveland's West Side, the State highway patrol said. It veered over the lake and headed in northeasterly direction.

The tornado, which cut a mile-wide swath, injured at least 14 persons in Erie county, Ohio.

There were reports that three houses in Bowling Green were disintegrated and at least ten persons were killed.

Coe Refuses to Talk on Gun Smuggling

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Frank Coe, former $20,000-a-year secretary of the International Monetary fund, refused to tell a Senate inquiry committee today whether he plotted "the smuggling of arms to Communists in Central America" during a recent trip to Mexico.

Later, in a statement to newsmen, Coe termed the charge "fantastic." He said it was "invented" by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Under oath at a hearing before a Senate Investigations subcommittee, Coe refused to discuss the alleged gun-smuggling scheme on the ground that his answers "might tend to incriminate me."

"Although I did not engage in any illegal activities, I am unwilling to furnish any evidence that may be used as a link in a chain of evidence to convict me," Coe told the subcommittee.

DURING COE'S appearance in the witness chair, McCarthy announced that the Government has closed the borders to travel by Coe, as the Wisconsin senator suggested several days ago.

McCarthy, newly returned from a trip to Mexico, declined to discuss the purpose of his visit below the border. He is reported to have told Federal agents that he turned up evidence of guns being smuggled by airlift from Texas to Panama for shipment to South American revolutionaries.

Young Lioness Steps Out for Lunch

HOUSTON, Tex., June 8 (AP)—A woman drove into the service station where Edward G. Giber works about 3:30 a. m. today and screamed: "There's a lion coming down the street. Call the police!"

Giber, 25, turned around, grinning skeptically. He gasped. The lion — turned out later to be a seven-month-old, 75-pound lioness — was stalking into the station, dragging a chain.

Giber grabbed the chain and fastened it to a pole.

The woman drove away, still screaming, "call the police!" Giber did. Then he sat down to eat his lunch.

THE LIONESS looked wistful. He offered her part of his bologna and cheese sandwich. She took it. Very dainty, Giber said.

Humane Officer Norman McClees arrived. He tugged on the chain. The lioness didn't move.

Record Vote Carries De Gasperi Party Toward Victory in Italian Elections

ROME, TUESDAY, June 9 (AP) — A record vote swept Premier Alcide De Gasperi's pro-American coalition of the center toward victory in Italy's national election today. A surge of Fascist and Monarchist strength, however, made it touch and go whether De Gasperi would win an absolute parliamentary majority.

Two Ex-GI's Given Long Prison Terms On Spying Charges

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Two foreign-born former GI's who plotted to betray this country, which gave them citizenship, stood silent today as they were sentenced to long prison terms.

Otto Verber, 31, and Kurt Poniger, 29, confessed members of a spy ring directed from the Russian Embassy here, received terms of 40 months to ten years and five to 15 years respectively.

The sentences were imposed by US District Judge Alexander Holtzoff before whom Poniger and Verber pleaded guilty in mid-April, three months after they were seized in Vienna and flown to Washington to face a two-count espionage indictment.

The sentences were recommended by Otah H. Waterman, Justice department attorney, who spoke for Attorney-General Brownell.

THE JUDGE observed that he does not ordinarily ask the Government for recommendations for sentences, but he did so in this case because it involved "national defense and national security."

Without seeking to justify the defendants' acts, court-appointed lawyers for Poniger and Verber asked for lighter sentences.

The judge replied that the defendants already had been shown "considerable consideration" when they were allowed to plead guilty to a single charge of espionage. The remaining charge against them was dismissed.

More than 10,000 Italians in the United States cast absentee ballots.

Returns from 5258 of Italy's 48,743 senatorial districts gave the coalition Government parties a combined vote of 1,375,237, or slightly more than 50 percent. The combined vote of the Communists and pro-Red Socialists was 899,388, the rightist parties, the Monarchists and neo-Fascists, had 470,753.

A new Pottstown Boy Scout troop will hold its first meeting this week, it was announced last night. Sponsored by Transfiguration Lutheran church, it will be known as Troop 16.

Meetings will be held on Friday nights in the church gymnasium, John Zeigler, a member of the troop committee, revealed.

Oregon V. Anderson will be scoutmaster, with Samuel Mauer as assistant and Richard Overdorf as advisor to the Explorer unit.

The troop will take over the charter held by Orioles' Troop 9, which has been inactive for several months.

CHARTER MEMBERS of the new troop, some of whom are former members of Troop 9, will include Charles Wampole, Kenneth Mayberry, Robert Penman, William Hampton, John Zeigler, Luther Rife, David Miller, John T. Scheffey, Lowell Hurter and Dennis Hoffman.

The new troop committee, of which Charles Wampole is chairman, met the past Friday to complete the organization of the new troop.

Committee members William Heil, Robert Schaffer, Harry Hildebrand, William Hampton, Zeigler, Anderson and Mauer, heard a fellow member, the Rev. Eugene B. Umberger, pastor of the sponsoring church, explain Scouting's benefits during the meeting.

The Transfiguration pastor is an experienced scout, having served as a neighborhood commissioner in a former parish.

Others who spoke to the committee were Richard D. Dutcher, district Scout executive; Harry Shellenberger, district commissioner; Waverly Kiehl, district extension chairman, and Donald Cochran, neighborhood commissioner.

All stressed the value of Scouting as a character building, instructive and fun-making activity.

Troops meeting last night devoted the evening to final preparations for the weekend camporee beginning at Collegeville this Friday.

THE LAST of the pro-camporees required of all camporee scouts was held over the past weekend by American Legion Troop 1's Flying Eagle patrol.

The patrol staked out its two-man tents on Friday night at the Fagleyville Legion camp under the leadership of Scoutmaster Walter Hutt.

The camping party included Patrol Leader Peter Van Dyke, Gary Becker, Eugene Stafas, Dennis Confer, Robert Heath and Thomas Dewalt.

First Presbyterian Troop 3 practiced rolling the blankets each troop member will carry into the camporee Friday night on his back.

First Methodist Troop 4 rehearsed the Indian pageant it will present. About 20 scouts of this troop are camporee-bound.

Other troops that will participate include Zion's Reformed Troop 5, Trinity Reformed Troop 6, St. Aloysius Troop 12, Searles Methodist Troop 7, Grace Lutheran Troop 15 and St. James Lutheran Troop 18.

Sanatoga Firemen Plan To Surface Lot, Driveway

Sanatoga Fire company decided to surface its driveway with tar and its parking lot with gravel during its business meeting last night at the fire house.

Cost of the improvements will run into several hundred dollars. President W. E. Knight, who was in charge of the meeting, estimated.

The company received no fire calls in the past month, it was reported at the meeting.

and Route 422.

The new bridge will cross West High street in the vicinity of Gable avenue.

The new weed ordinance was the result of repeated laxity on the part of lot owners in past years. The borough has had difficulty enforcing the old ordinance.

One of the principal perennial offenders of the old ordinance was Burgess William A. Griffith's brother, C. Francis Griffith, 1004 Bellevue avenue.

AT ITS MAY 11 meeting council ordered Burgess Griffith to clear his brother's junk lot at Morris and Price streets.

Clearance of the lot was placed in the hands of the burgess and police department.

Paul P. Kohler, Second ward, asked at the outset of last night's long session in the stuffy council chambers to read the portion of the minutes of the May meeting which dealt with council's action on the Morris and Price streets lot.

Albert Derocola, 217 North Price street, who lives across from the infested lot and who petitioned with 20 other residents living in the vicinity of Morris and Price streets for action on the lot, said, "I would like to know just what action is planned out there."

Council President William H. Reifsnnyder, Sixth ward, said, "I'm obliged to ask the burgess about the lot."

GRIFITH SAID, "It's in the hands of the health officer and the fire inspector. They are supposed to inspect the lot and let me know the results. I know he's done some work on the lot."

Kohler said, "It may be further enlightening to you gentlemen in the rear of the room to know that the health officer and fire marshal were supposed to reply in ten days by written report. I don't believe they've done that."

Griffith asserted, "That is right. As I understand it, application has been made for building on the lots. (The second lot, also a source of complaints, is located at Keim and Morris streets). You can verify this through the building inspector (Arthur S. Kepner)."

Kohler said, "Since more than ten days has expired I think something should be done."

REIFSNYDER broke in, "would you be kind enough to..."

He was interrupted by George F. Shaner, who explained, "I've been hired by Francis Griffith to survey these lots for building. He plans to build on both of them."

Derocola said, "I guess he's going to build something on them. But he may wait six months. I read where the fire marshal and health officer told him to remove the rotten lumber and stack the rest of the things on the lots. We will have some more information later, burgess, won't we?"

The burgess replied, "We will, sir."

C. Roy Bush appeared on behalf of a citizens committee and urged council pass the resolution to ordain a street between the railroad tracks west of the Manatawny.

He said this street of the future might prove to be an important by-pass to the borough.

A resolution approving the employment of Albright and Friel to prepare plans and specifications for improvements to the water system in the North End was approved.

An ordinance changing the description of a previous ordinance which exercises the borough's right of eminent domain to acquire three tracts of land adjacent to the airport.

Council approved a resolution changing the zoning of a tract at Moser road from a residential section to an industrial section. The tract is located on the southwest corner of Moser road and Grove street. The planning and zoning commission recommended the change. The request was made by Bell Telephone company which plans a new garage on the site.

SCHOOL BOARD —

for the vocal training.

McCormick replied, "It's not a question of enthusiasm. I agree with you on that. It's a question of there not being enough help to go around."

JOHN THEN brought out that the elementary school system had been increased—with the Franklin school, the new West End school and four new rooms at the Rupert school.

"But," he said, "have we come through with a comparative increase in the instruction for music?"

Then he said, "We need another teacher for the elementary schools. We have neglected the elementary school music program for a long time."

The difficulty in developing the music program has been caused by the fact that one music teacher has been on military leave from the school system since 1949, and that another teacher has been hired on a temporary, three-year basis to fill in.

DIRECTOR Earl J. Reidenouer suggested that a way around the situation would be to hire a part-time, (if that's all that's required), temporary teacher, hired with that understanding, until the teacher now on leave returns.

Dr. McCormick told questioners that there would be plenty of work for O'Neill in the Senior High school alone, if another teacher were hired for the elementary schools.

First then, on a motion by Director Carl M. Binder, the directive of April 13 ordering O'Neill to work nine hours a week in elementary schools was rescinded, and another, saying that he would be used only in the Senior High school was passed.

Next, again on Binder's motion, the board voted to try to hire a part-time, temporary teacher for the elementary schools.

IN OTHER business, a list of the salary adjustments for teachers—both State and local—went into the minutes.

The teachers will be mailed forms today notifying them of their raises, although all have been contacted and spoken to in private conferences.

The raises are either from the State, ranging from $100 to $200 or from the local board, in the same amounts, or from both.

Two teachers, however, because of the difficulty of replacing them and on the recommendation of the State, were granted $400 raises by the local board.

THE POSITION of director of the Veterans school was formally abolished, since the Veterans school was closed June 3.

William O. Smith, who held the post, was given status as a regular teacher.

Action on the appointment of a new dietitian for the Junior High school was tabled.

John T. Kissinger, Wyoming, was elected as a teacher in elementary schools beginning in September.

Dr. Harry W. Brennecke was elected to serve as a dental clinician for the next year, and Dr. Raymond L. Reinhold was elected to serve as school and athletic doctor. He will handle Junior High as well as Senior High school athletics.

BIDS OPENED for an acoustical ceiling for the Senior High school cafeteria and typing rooms, lights for the High school cafeteria and furniture were referred to committees.

McCormick reported that 255 pupils are graduating from the Ninth grade at the Junior High school; while 36 have failed.

Rohland said it was too large a number and that he would like to see an improvement next year. McCormick agreed with him.

The next meeting of the board will be June 30. The new fiscal year starts on July 1. The June 30 meeting will replace the regular July 6 meeting.

Griffith asserted, "That is right. As I understand it, application has been made for building on the lots. (The second lot, also a source of complaints, is located at Keim and Morris streets). You can verify this through the building inspector (Arthur S. Kepner)."

GEORGE P. DUNLAP, 95, retired stone mason, GLEN MOORE RD 1, died at his home yesterday morning.

be destroyed and a new one constructed at whatever it might cost, probably in the neighborhood of $500 or $600. I have asked the dog catcher (Willard H. Wilkinson) to discontinue picking up dogs."

GRIFITH then read a letter of recommendations which the women asked him to recite.

The letter included three points:

1. The borough bring pressure on the dog catcher to abide by the dog ordinance and to contact owners in all cases when dogs are picked up.
2. To provide suitable quarters for dogs because the present pound allegedly is infected with distemper germs.
3. The pens should include cement floors. They should be constructed in the shade with ventilation.

The burgess continued, "The good ladies have asked me if we have any other animals in the borough such as horses which need special care and I told them we don't have any other animal problems."

ONE OF the women suggested the borough conduct a drive among dog lovers to secure funds for the new pound.

It was pointed out the Montgomery county SPCA is duty bound to collect stray dogs and put them to sleep "humanely" at the Plymouth township pound.

The burgess added, "I don't think we have any objection to that here. This business of killing dogs isn't much fun."

Michael G. Sweda, Third ward, said, "I move the problem be referred to the proper committees."

Council then voted the property, police and finance committees study the dog pound problem.

J. Wayne Knause, veteran finance committee chairman, said, "I think the burgess should be given the full authority to co-operate on the new pound to the extent of using funds from the 1953 budget."

Pottstown Woman Cuts Finger With Hatchet

A Pottstown woman yesterday learned a hatchet is more dangerous than a paring knife.

Mrs. Verna Watson, 312 South Keim street, was admitted to Memorial hospital at 3:30 p. m. when she sliced the little finger of her right hand with a hatchet.

She was helping her husband sharpen wooden stakes for his tomato garden.

There was a deep cut and an injured tendon in the finger.

She was admitted because of injury to the tendon.

Synchronize Those Lights

POTTSTOWN'S a big bustling borough, bigger than West Chester. But our next-door neighbor has taken the traffic light by the horns and is installing a traffic light synchronization system.

When finished, it means a car can roll from one end of the borough to the other at a speed of 20 miles an hour.

That's mighty nice. It will be a big help in many ways.

In the first place, it will channel traffic through the town evenly and safely.

In the second place, it will keep down the dander and ire of out-of-town motorists, who will ever remember West Chester as the borough of green, non-stop lights.

This community well could follow the example of progressive West Chester.

Synchronized traffic lights were badly needed here years ago; with many, many more automobiles on the road today they are needed even more badly.

Greatest excuse for not synchronizing the lights years ago was the cost, which was about $20,000.

West Chester is paying $5000 for its installation.

In the light of this, it seems meet and proper that the borough fathers give further study to this unquestionable need.

Pottstown's traffic is at its worst in years, and it's bound to get far worse in the days ahead.

Beware The Highways

SCHOOLS! If your youngster's school isn't over for the current semester, then it will be in a day or two.

And that means the streets will be cluttered with playing children. They will be chasing balls, chasing each other and just chasing. They will be darting here and there, from behind the barn and between parked cars onto a busy highway.

That's kids. When they've got a ball to chase—and there's a runner trying to score from third base, they can think of little else than to retrieve that precious, elusive ball.

The little mind isn't accustomed to working very fast. It's mostly a lack of capacity, caused chiefly by that happy juvenile trait of all play and no responsibility.

But children can be trained and must be trained to accept responsibility if they expect the privilege of playing near busy streets and highways. They must be impressed one way or another. Some can be trained with a you're-a-big-boy impression; others won't buy that—they'll respond to you're-gonna-get-killed or pop'll-wallopp-the-daylights-out-a-ya.

There's a way to reach every child. And if you value your child's life, you'll find that way.

On the other hand, motorists, to ensure maximum protection to vacationing children, must accept full responsibility for their darting into the street. Whenever an automobile approaches a group (two or more) of children, its operator should slow down to a snail's pace, watch the kids like a hawk while he anticipates any possible moves they might make.

Motorists, like children, must be trained in this art of watchful driving.

Only with this double-barreled caution can we hope to see the same children walk into school in September that walked out in June.

Overlook Shortcomings

EVERYBODY agrees with the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers that the excess profits tax is a bad levy. But the Eisenhower administration points to a prospective deficit of more than six billion dollars. And House Speaker Martin says a cut in individual income taxes next January may be threatened by abandoning the excess profits tax for the rest of 1933. In view of the administration's serious attempt to strengthen the dollar and balance the budget, the United States Chamber and NAM would be wise to overlook the shortcomings of the profits tax for another six months and give the President a vote of confidence in his, and Secretary Humphrey's, financial program.

Road to Long Life

To the Editor: In answer to "I Wonder" in Readers Say of May 3:

So what if those North Enders do sit out all the time? They are minding their own business. The person calling herself "I Wonder" must be one of those noseys Roseys that can do their work and also have their car behind an open door to hear what is being talked.

Why worry if they should eat from cans? Which I don't think they do. Why don't you get yourself a North End inspection job? Then you could get into their homes to see if they are clean or not. Then start checking your own.

What a silly thing to worry about! What happened? Did you miss some of their conversation? Well, as they say, it's a free country. So you live your way and the rest of the North Enders will live theirs. Try it and you will find out you will live longer.

WASHINGTON Anti-Depression Action Planned by Eisenhower

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 8—Another New Deal reform has been drafted by the Eisenhower Administration as a result of the major assignment the White House has framed for its new Council of Economic advisers. When funds for the agency have been provided by Congress, its first task will be to draw up definite blueprints for anti-depression action.

Presidential aides emphasize that they do not anticipate a decline within the next few years, if then. Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, as well as Eisenhower himself, have given assurances on that point. It is now the official viewpoint.

But Eisenhower believes that, as an Army needs advance planning for all contingencies on the field of battle, so the Nation must have in readiness a far-reaching program to check or cushion a slump.

IKE'S PRIMARY OBJECTIVES: In view of the still fresh and bitter memories of the Hoover era, he feels that a depression under the first Republican Administration in 20 years would be calamitous. It could mean the end of the GOP.

On the other hand, Ike thinks that if he can end the Korean conflict, avert a global war and maintain the present level of prosperity, the Democrats will undergo the same sort of exile the Grand Old Party did from 1933 to 1935. Those are his immediate and primary objectives.

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, the former Columbia economics professor who will head the new organization, is a veteran student of economic ups and downs, more conventionally known as "business cycles."

Although he refers to popular "obituaries on the business cycle" as "romantic expressions of human impatience," he believes that they can be alleviated with proper research and preparation.

The first reaction to a down-turn would be a resort to so-called orthodox and classical remedies. It would mean a reversal of the very anti-inflationary policies adopted by the Administration in its first few months.

PROGRAM PLANS: Treasury and Federal Reserve machinery would be utilized to lower interest rates, to stimulate borrowing and to maintain purchasing power. Any thought of reducing parity payments to farmers would be forgotten. There would be an immediate resort to the once discredited pump-priming, with construction of long-deferred schools, hospitals, highways and more homes.

These smaller projects would be undertaken first because they could be started without the long delay that helped to invalidate Harold L. Ickes' PWA program in 1933-35. More grandiose and elaborate public works, such as great dams, gigantic bridges and huge apartment houses, would be reserved for a secondary attack on a depression, if necessary.

Several important differences would mark the Eisenhower approach. For one thing, it would be inaugurated more promptly than even FDR's. Ike has described himself as "a man of some impatience." He would not wait until there are 5,000,000 or 7,000,000 unemployed. It is understood that 3,500,000 or thereabouts would be the peril point.

who down near Black Rock dam. I think it is time the county or the State did something about it.

It is understandable that there is a drowning or so a year at Montgomery County park because thousands and thousands of people use it, but it is not right that there should be so many drownings at a place used by a relatively few people.

I do not know what should be done about it, whether further steps should be taken to keep people away from the dam or whether the place should be made a safeguarded swimming place. But these drownings should not continue.

Ground Accident Victims

To the Editor: In reading in The Mercury about the unfortunate man who had two auto accidents in the same day, I was reminded of an idea I've had for a long time.

It is that there should be a State law making it illegal for drivers to drive within so many hours of an accident. I have ridden with people who drove right after a crash, and I know just how rattled they always are.

Of course, the law would not apply to parking accidents where a fender is nicked and so forth, but it could be made to apply to any accident that is serious enough so that it has to be reported to the State.

Policewomen a Joke

The swarthy, handsome Rubiosa, famed as a ladies' man on two continents, has been keeping the transoceanic phone wires buzzing with calls to the pretty divorcee in Florida. If she decides to make it a European wedding, she'll have plenty of trousseau money, to boot.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

REGGIE L., is a bright child.

"But, Dr. Crane, he is terrified at the sound of a vacuum sweeper," his mother informed me.

"He will actually scream and grow rigid in my arms. Indeed, he has become so hysterical at times that I have feared he was in a convulsion of some sort."

"Once I called the doctor about Reggie, and the doctor finally had to throw ice water in his face to bring him out of his fit of terror.

Dr. Crane has been overwhelmed with requests for his booklets which has created a backlog of orders. His staff is working overtime catching up on the backlog and all requests for Dr. Crane's booklet should be filled within the next several days.

"Dr. Crane, how can we help him get over this fear?"

ACCORDING TO Dr. John B. Watson's extensive investigation of young babies, there are only two native (in-born) fears.

An infant seems to dread loud noises and also the feeling of falling. All other fears must be learned.

Reggie's terror of the vacuum cleaner thus has been acquired. His mother didn't know how it started, but we know that every emotional reaction has a beginning in some specific situation.

We must get Reggie to link pleasure and fun with that same noise, instead of his present fear and panic.

Suppose they play that the vacuum sweeper is an army tank. Without turning it on, Reggie could then be encouraged to push it after his father.

After several days of such play, Reggie can then be persuaded to turn on the motor, under the ruse that the noise is the sound of machine guns blasting the enemy.

Imagine it, there is a big crash and there stands an excited policewoman trying to direct traffic and gossip at the same time. Ha, Ha!

I get a kick out of the whole idea. They may have good intentions, but town council is sure going about it the wrong way. The policemen don't even get the right training and these women hardly get any.

The following is an incident I happened to witness. It amused me.

It is 3 o'clock and the children are getting out of school. There is a policewoman standing at the corner trying to direct traffic. The light is green and a car goes around the corner, while the policewoman is wondering what to do next.

Just then, a boy starts to walk in front of the car. A big scream is heard and the policewoman yanks the boy back, takes another deep breath, and yells at the driver, "Why don't you watch where you're going?" Three Catholic sisters are standing at the corner.

Inquire if you don't believe this.

I realize this wasn't funny, but I couldn't keep from laughing at the policewoman and her attempt at trying to direct traffic.

I get a kick out of some of these things the town council tries to do. I wouldn't be surprised if half of them don't even know how to write.

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, June 8—It said here May 14 that RKO was chasing Jean Pierre Aumont to play the suave Frenchman opposite Jane Russell in "French Line."

At this writing, Aumont is in New York headed for Europe, then South America. But the studio is hot on his trail. If Jean doesn't do the film, it won't be because the producers didn't try. . . . Rosemary Clooney and Gene Barry are getting along like Hatfield and McCoy on the "Ret Garters" sets.

"A Night with Bea Lillie" closes its long Broadway run June 15, at which time Reg Gardiner joins his Mrs. in Beverly Hills. . . . Dennis O'Keefe, "absent" from good pictures too long, returns here same time. Denny comes to co-star with Patricia Medina in "Drums of Tahiti" at Columbia.

COLE PORTER gave a going-away dinner for Rocky Cooper, whose beau was Pete Sabiston. Judy Garland and Sid Luft, Roger Edens, Charlie and John Feldman, the Moss Harts, Richard Burton, among the few others there. Rocky is off (with daughter Maria) to meet Gary in Europe. Reconciliation? She's mum! . . . Burton went back to England yesterday. We just remembered that of all the ringdiers busting their sides at Joe E. Lewis' rather even, none guffawed louder than Richard. Not even "local jokes" went to waste on that Britisher! The spectacle Sonny Tufts made of himself while heckling Joe was pathetic! Tufts has the brawn, but his brains are no match for Joe E's! And the deserved squelching Sonny got was monumental!

SOMEONE ELSE who opened his mouth only to get his foot in it, was Lex Barker who gave the darndest statements to the Italian press few days ago! "Explaining" quite clumsily why it was OK for Lana Turner and himself to be traveling around Europe together. Shirley Patterson snags a lead in the "Mark Hellinger" TV series. Athletic Shirley excels at swimming, tennis, golf, riding, hunting, fishing, skating, skiing and archery. We'd looove to see her combine those talents on a 12-inch screen! Tee, hee! . . . You can expect a veritable rash of pictures about Queen Elizabeth—the "original," we mean, "Young Bess," currently out with Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger is only one of many due before Winter. Bette Davis may do one in Hollywood this Fall, titled "Elizabeth and Sir Walter Raleigh." But it'll never top her "Elizabeth and Essex" with Errol Flynn few years ago.

Wins Scholarship . . . Bounce Back . . .

★ SCHOLARSHIP—John A. Dusko Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dusko, 365 Beech street, has won a scholarship at the Cartoonists and Illustrators school in New York City, only one of its kind in America. With the scholarship, he'll finish his last term before taking a job in that field. His father is manager of the Acme supermarket. . . . Speaking of school, those highway markers that look like dunce caps are working out very well according to Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden. They're made of rubber, are painted yellow with a black and red stripes, are a lot easier to move around than street barricades and naturally bounce back a lot better when conked by an errant motorist. The dunce caps are old hat in big cities but have been used in Pottstown this year for the first time.

DEAR TEACHER—Remembered by his former teacher of 55 years ago was Joseph Evans, seriously injured in an automobile accident on May 29. Evans' recuperation was given a boost when he received a get-well card from Miss Nettie Guss, who taught him in the old Grand building. Evans was surprised and pleased at the thoughtfulness that had leaped a 55-year gap.

★ PROUD PAPA—A. Jackson Ecker, the King street pipe and wrench welder, yesterday was exhibiting—and presenting to his friends—boxes of luscious strawberries which he picked while on a Sunday visit to his son Joseph at Indian Mills, N. J. "He's got about ten acres of strawberries," Papa Ecker proudly beamed. "And what's more they're eating cabbage down there already!" Joe moved to New Jersey about a dozen years ago, marrying a gal from down there. Indian Mills is about six miles beyond Medford. Accompanying Ecker on the trip were Mrs. Ecker, their daughters Mary Jane and Genevieve, Donald, Craig and Donna Thompson and Donald Hafer.

OVERSEAS—Pvt. Richard D. Rynjas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rynjas, Linfield, has arrived in Korea with the 2d Infantry division. Private Rynjas worked for the Unger Motor Co. at Phoenixville before he joined the Army the past November. . . . Harold W. Goodman, who is serving with the 25th Infantry division in Korea, has been promoted to corporal. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Goodman, Mont Clare.

★ HOME AGAIN—Mrs. Louis Friedman, 546 Beech street, phoned yesterday to report that her husband was back home from the hospital. Friedman, who's had a fruit and vegetable route in Pottstown for 40 years, had his knee broken and several ribs broken May 11 when his truck ran off the road. He was pinned under his truck and had to lie there for more than 20 minutes while cars passed by him on North Kcm street. The truck was covered over by foliage. Mrs. Friedman says her husband is getting along very well and wants to thank all of his customers and friends who sent him cards at the hospital.

★ BONANZA—Four Pottstonians collected $1850 in backup bonuses from the Ezee Flow, Inc., Collegeville. The pay was withheld because the employees terminated their employment prior to approval of the bonus by the Wage Stabilization Board. Those reaping the dollars were John J. Kertis, 173 Sheridan street, Mrs. Helen R. Mastrangelo, 76 Mt. Vernon street, Mrs. Anne Kakes, 1128 High street, and Harry E. Scheetz, 572 Wilson street. Attorney Matthew S. Santangelo handled the affair. . . . And speaking of $$$$$. Britain's greatest show, the one that coronated Queen Elizabeth, cost $3,376,000, according to Britain's ministry of works. The net cost, after sale of seats and other concessions, was $1,940,000. Brewers said the unpaid costs will be covered by taxes from the sale of beer and liquor to freely spending celebrants.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. RUNDESEN, M.D.

ONE OF THE severest types of pain that a person can suffer is due to neuralgia. The pain is a sharp type that comes and goes.

Usually, the root of a nerve is affected in this disease. The causes for neuralgia may be many, including inflammation or pressure on the nerve. However, in many cases, no definite cause can be found.

There are different kinds of neuralgia, and many of the large nerves can be affected by it.

One of the most frequent types is trigeminal neuralgia, or tic douloureux. It brings spells of excruciating, jabbing pain in the area supplied by the trigeminal nerve, usually on one side of the face. The area below the eye and the lower and upper jaws are most often affected.

There are no physical signs of the disease in most cases. A person who develops this disease most often is over forty.

These attacks are started off by pressure on the nerve, such as chewing or just touching some point on the face. Pressing or chewing will act like a trigger of a gun to start one of the spasms.

A few people have been known to be driven to drug addiction, or even suicide, because of the severity of these pains.

Many attacks can be helped by injecting an alcohol solution into the nerve. This is done. However, the treatment is not effective in all cases, and the nerve may have to be severed by surgery.

Neuralgia may affect another nerve known as the ninth cranial nerve. Usually, the trigger zone causing the pain is around the tonsils and is stimulated by swallowing cold water.

This nerve has to be numbed or paralyzed in order to bring relief. However, in some cases, it also has to be cut as does the trigeminal nerve.

MAN CONVICTED OF LIQUOR SALE

Agent Testifies He Paid $1 for Pint of Wine

A 63-year-old Hilldale man was convicted by a jury on speakeasy charges yesterday after his testimony that he gave, not sold home-made wine to a State Liquor Control board agent clashed with the agent's testimony.

Lawrence Calloway, Apartment 27-A, Road B, Hilldale, was told by Montgomery County President Judge Harold G. Knight that he would be sentenced Friday, June 19.

Judge Knight added that since Calloway was a first offender he would not get a jail term. Fines range from $100 to $200.

Calloway was among a dozen area residents arrested in a series of raids on speakeasies the past March 13.

WILLIAM L. CAMPBELL, liquor board enforcement agent, testified that he paid Calloway $1 for a pint, bottle of homemade peach wine when he visited Calloway's home the past Jan. 18.

Calloway said that he refused to sell Campbell any wine but gave him the little bottleful when Campbell said his ill wife needed some wine. Calloway said he had the homemade wine on hand because his wife was ill, too.

Calloway said he didn't accept any money but conceded that Campbell, on the way out, left the $1, which Calloway said he found later.

The jury returned at 3:30 p. m. with the guilty verdict after an hour's deliberation.

Broken Sewer Line Is Health Menace, Residents Charge

A broken sewer line in the vicinity of Buttonwood alley, behind West High street, has residents clamoring for action from borough officials.

One of the residents, Mrs. Charlotte Boyer, of 16 Rice street, has filed complaints with Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden and Health Officer Benjamin C. Steele. She stated that the broken line has created an unsanitary condition.

According to Mrs. Boyer, the break has been there for the six to eight weeks since a bulldozer was used to clean up the area.

She pointed out that the sewerage line in question was built about 60 years ago and was used by a private party. When the Schuylkill river was cleaned up and the borough line laid, all residents in the vicinity were supposed to hook onto the new line, she said.

THE SEWER was plugged up about four weeks ago by borough workers. But the plug has washed away and the condition has grown steadily worse, she said.

Meanwhile, Health Officer Steele is out trying to find out who's sewer is hooked onto the line. He said that as soon as he learns who is using the line he will order it stopped.

Moose Members Urged To Attend District Meeting

Members of Lodge 369, Loyal Order of Moose, were urged by Gov. Harry J. Wells at their meeting last night to attend the District 3 meeting scheduled for Sunday at Mauch Chunk.

District 3 includes Eastern Pennsylvania lodges of the order.

BARN RAZING —

other resignedly. Nobody knew exactly how old the barn was.

THE BARN was there when Mrs. Howe's mother came to the farm in 1867.

"My mother was two years old when she came here with her mother and father. And I know the barn was up when they bought the place. So was the house."

But besides the thoughts that the barn-razing recalled for these two people, the ripping open of this structure brought back the patience, strength, courage, ingenuity and faith in the future that the men of the young days of the country possessed.

The entrails of this barn-like those old field stone barns that are still in near-perfect condition, like the abandoned stone walls of barns that have had their insides burned out but that still refuse to fall—bespeak a craft that modern methods and machinery have replaced but never duplicated.

"They don't build them like that anymore," a cliched phrase, contained full meaning yesterday when uttered by Mr. Howe.

ONCE LOGS, the sills and beams were planed down in what required hours of tedious, monotonous, and strenuous labor.

The gathering of the field stones, from plowed fields, the selection of the stones and the artful placing of them, one on the other, were all made clear as the inside of the thick walls was bared.

The huge cornerstones that weighed close to half a ton in some instances.

The hand-made wooden pegs driven into softer timbers.

The wide hand-made planks that covered the floor.

The crude but straight rafters that shot up to the peak.

The barn hadn't been used in five years. Howe said that it was no longer safe, that one wall was now very dangerous.

A contractor was knocking it down for him, burning all the old wood and debris, and clearing the site. In return, the contractor would be given the field stones.

TRUCE TALKS —

Eisenhower's letter of Sunday in which Eisenhower promised a post-armistice mutual security pact with South Korea.

Just what would happen if the South Korean army, manning two-thirds of the 155-mile long battle front, refused to down arms after an armistice no one could say for sure. Allied military leaders felt the South Korean army lacked the ability to sustain an offensive, but regarded the situation as explosive.

MAN PLACED ON PROBATION

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN, June 8—James Payne, of North 43d street, Philadelphia, was placed on a year's probation by Judge Harold Knight yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of being an accessory after the fact.

Payne was arrested Jan. 2 by State Troopers George Sawyer and Chester Krupiewski during an investigation into the theft of a quantity of jewelry from the store of A. W. Zimmerman, 539 Main street, Collegeville, on Dec. 20.

Sawyer testified that a watch and a ring stolen in the early morning robbery was pawned in Philadelphia by Payne. After he was apprehended the defendant helped implicate the three men who staged the burglary and were subsequently jailed for the crime.

Payne told Judge Knight that he had nothing to do with the robbery, but pawned the articles for a "friend" who turned out to be one of the thieves.

Payne was ordered by Judge Knight to pay the costs of prosecution immediately.

In the bizarre vote which followed Secretary William S. Shaeffer asked members to vote either against or for work on alleys to avoid confusion.

Councilmen voted 15 to 1 against work on alleys not ordained. Gustav H. Schade, Ninth ward, cast the only vote for work on alleys.

Two Youths Escape Death

youth to a grassy lawn in front of a nearby house, where the ambulance men found him with blood flowing from the lacerations about his head. "Somebody call my mother," he murmured as Roth and the two helpers bandaged his head.

THE UNINJURED youth wandered back and forth between the wrecked car and his companion, too dazed to speak more than a few words.

Both youths were taken in the ambulance to Pottstown hospital, where Street was treated for his injuries and Smale was examined. Both were discharged shortly afterward.

Hospital authorities said that a resident physician attended the youths.

They said that Street was 17 years old and that Smale was 15. Smale was driver of the car, they added.

The 19-year-old car had its top crushed and one wheel was twisted badly. A black mass of oil gushed from the battered engine and trickled down the roadway.

Information about the owner of the car was not available at 1 o'clock this morning from investigation news. Much of it will be as pleasant as the drowning, was tragic. In either case, 'phone 6000 promptly day or night, on weekday or weekend.

FAST WORK—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Y. Manger, Rattlesnake hill, yesterday were still catching their breath because of some fast getting-around. Both of their children (above) were graduating the same day (Thursday)—150 miles apart. Ralph received his degree from Penn State at 10:30 a.m.; Alice got her diploma from Pottstown High school at 8 p. m. "We made 'em both," Mrs. Manger proudly boasted. "But we had to keep our fingers crossed. The only thing that saved us was the weather. If it had rained at Penn State in the morning, graduation exercises would have been at 2 in the afternoon. Then we would have never made it."

Loyalty Clearance Bill Passes Senate

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—The Senate today passed and sent to the House a bill opposed by both the State and Justice departments forbidding US citizens to take jobs with the United Nations or its agencies without first getting clearance as security risks from the attorney general. The measure sailed through without debate or a record vote under circumstances in which a measure is considered passed unless one or more senators object. It would provide penalties up to five years in prison and $10,000 fine for willful violations.

The Hows and Whys
of Moth Repellents
By Waverne Tudor
The advertising profession, that noble art of painting rosy pictures, has so accustomed us to the expression "moth proofed" that most of us no longer know what the true facts of the case are.
Let us be blunt.
NO MOTHE REPELLENT IS EVER 100% EFFECTIVE FOREVER UN-LESS IT WAS INCORPORATED INTO THE FIBERS OF THE FABRIC
DURING MANUFACTURE. And by that we mean manufacture of the fibers themselves. Not just the woven fabric.
The reason is that no moth repellent can ever cover or penetrate every fiber in the fabric of a garment.
Another reason that moth repellents are not always absolutely effective is that not all moth repellent solutions are equally as good. An inexperienced cleaner may "moth proof" a garment in all good faith. But if the solution is not the best, the protection you get is your own illusory price of mind.
Still another reason why moth repellents fail to do a job, is that the stuff wears off after a time. You can't expect to "moth proof" a garment this week, and have it remain effective forever. The "moth proofing" must be renewed from time to time for maximum effectiveness.
That is why damage sometimes occurs on garments which have been "moth proofed."
For good cleaning and "moth proofing" with a six-month guarantee

Ann Stirling Fetter and Leon Smith Fulmer Repeat Wedding Promises

Spring Mount's Leon Smith Fulmer claimed a Southampton girl as his bride at afternoon ceremonies Saturday in Churchville.

Ann Stirling Fetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Fetter, Southampton, exchanged vows with her groom in North and Southampton Reformed church before an altar filled with fern and white flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer F. Fulmer, Spring Mount, are the parents of the groom.

Officiating at the double ring service was the Rev. Harold Schut, assisted by the Rev. Samuel Moyer.

Organist Mrs. Samuel Dunagan played a program of traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white.

Lace formed its bodice worn beneath a lace jacket with long sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. The skirt was of net over satin.

Catching the bride's shoulder length veil to her hair was a band of white satin and pearls.

Her bouquet was formed of lily-of-the-valley, stephanotis and camellias.

Mrs. F. Thomas Snyder, Schwenksville, a cousin of the bride, acted as matron of honor.

With her green lace bodice, she wore a mandarin collared lace jacket with three-quarter sleeves and a skirt of nylon net over tulle.

Her colonial nosegay featured orchid and lavender hued flowers.

Bridesmaids were Norma Beerweiler, Jersey Shore, and Gladys Fulmer, a sister of the groom.

Their gowns were copies of that worn by the honor attendant, only orchid in shade.

Greens, orchids and whites predominated in their colonial nosegays.

Robert L. Fulmer, Red Hill, a brother of the groom, served as the best man.

Ushers were F. Thomas Snyder, Schwenksville, and Robert S. Saurman, Southampton.

Following the service, a reception for 100 guests was held in the church auditorium.

The mother of the bride was present in a gown of beige lace over lavender taffeta with beige accessories and a lavender orchid corsage.

Navy blue accessories accented the dusty pink lace gown worn by the groom's mother, who also wore a corsage of orchids.

To leave for a honeymoon in Niagara Falls and New York state, the bride changed to a suit of pale blue with accessories in navy and white. She wore a white camellia corsage.

Upon their return the newlyweds will be at home in the Royer apartments, Schwenksville.

After being graduated from Schwenksville High school with the class of 1942, the bridegroom served for three years in the Army. He works for the Spicer Manufacturing company.

His bride was graduated from Lankenau hospital school of nursing in 1949, which she attended after receiving her diploma in 1946 from Upper Southampton High school.
